CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress

The House has passed the Administration's Post War Highway bill providing for the granting of five hundred million dollar per year of Federal aid to the various States for three years, to be used for the construction of Federal and State highways and farm-to-market roads. The measure, which had previously been passed by the Senate, was dramatically amended so as to restrict the purposes for which the funds could be expended, and to assure State control in the selection of projects. The Act will not become operative until after peace comes, or at some later time set by Congress.

As was expected, the Crop Insurance Bill recently passed by the House has run into legislative difficulties in the Senate. While the Administration will attempt to have the measure enacted before the 78th Congress adjourns, there is a strong possibility the whole crop insurance issue may have to await action by the new Congress, which will convene on January 3rd.

At long last the Congress is giving serious consideration to ways and means of modernizing its own procedure so as to increase its efficiency and strengthen its capacity to cope with rapidly growing governmental problems. The Rules Committee of the House has been holding hearings for the past week on various measures and proposals to bring about necessary changes in the national legislature. During the past 25 years the burden of work on the average Member of Congress has increased by at least ten times. The government has grown so complex and so large it is no longer possible for the Congress to properly supervise its activities with the present inadequate legislative staff, while individual Congressmen, with only limited secretarial help, are unable to meet their full responsibilities to their constituents and to their country.

The Congress acts as the people's Board of Directors for a government which last year spent one hundred thousand million dollars. Yet the entire expenditures for the legislative branch of the government, including the pay of Senators, Representatives, and all Congressional staff workers, was only twenty million dollars. The Bureau of Indian Affairs alone cost the people twice that much. The Congress has always been niggardly in appropriating funds for its own requirements, but a last is beginning to realize the fallacy of such a policy. Legislative committees properly staffed with investigators, researchers, and well-trained governmental experts could undoubtedly save American taxpayers, not millions, but billions, of dollars each year without in any way injuring the public service.

By the time this column appears in print the House will probably have passed the Doughton Bill to freeze 1944 Social Security taxes for 1945 at the present level of one percent on wages. Unless this bill is enacted into law before January 1st, the tax rate would automatically increase on that date to two percent each for both employers and employees. The President has requested the increased tax be permitted to become effective, presumably to make more money available for general government use, inasmuch as Social Security funds are "borrowed" by the Treasury as soon as they are received. However, the Ways and Means Committee, which reported out the "freeze" bill is calling attention to the fact that last year Social Security taxes at the old rate were 26 1/2 times more than the total amount of Social Security benefits paid out—and the Social Security income under the present tax rates is eight times as much as Secretary Morgenthau previously testified would be necessary to maintain the Social Security program on a sound basis. Two things should be remembered in connection with this question:

(1) Funds derived from Social Security taxes are not used for the payment of ordinary old age pensions, such as those received under the Ohio Old Age Pension Law, but only for benefits to the workers who have paid into the fund. (2)—If this bill is not enacted and Social Security taxes are automatically doubled on both employers and workers upon their retirement. Their benefits will remain stationary while their taxes go up. In other words, every worker will have the tax on his wage doubled but will receive no additional benefits therefrom.

Marion Hughes, member of the Board of Public Affairs, offered his resignation to Village Council, Monday, and will be succeeded by Herbert Pickering. Mr. Hughes is expected to be out of town for several months. Mr. Arthur Cummings is the second member of this board and he is now in Florida, leaving Amos Frame as the third member.

Council also has been informed of the intention of Smith, McCallister & Gibeby to retire at the end of this month as city solicitors for the village. Council authorized Nelson Creswell, clerk, to contact different attorneys for a recommendation to council.

THOUSANDS HUNT DEER ON ROOSEVELT RESERVATION

Some six or eight thousand hunters took out licenses this year to hunt deer in this state, especially on the (Teddy) Roosevelt game preserve along the Ohio River counties. Monday was the opening day and each hunter was allowed but one buck. Does could not be killed but many were—by accident.

Howard Arthur, Lloyd Devos, Daniel Devos and E. E. Neal made the trip but did not bring back any game.

ALONG FARM FRONT

E. A. Drake, Co. Agricultural Agent

COMMITTEES PLAN INSTITUTES
Farmers institute committees at Bellbrook, Caesar Creek and Beavercreek are making plans for the institute season which will open early next year. Institutes were held in these communities last year with an attendance of 2792.

HOG PROSPECTS UP

Things are looking up for the hog producer according to Howard Davidson, extension swine specialist. The supply of high protein feeds is more nearly adequate than last year, which means that farmers can keep from wasting grain if they make wise use of the supplements.

A request has been made to the War Food Administration asking that grain be shipped to Ohio. The request emphasized the shortage of feed grain in Ohio. Stockmen want movement of grain into the state from surplus production areas to the west.

FARM QUIZ STARTS JAN. 2

Starting January 2, census enumerators armed with 196 questions will visit every farm in Greene County to get basic information on agriculture. The only figures they want are farm figures such as: name of owner, number of people living on the farm, number of people employed, wages, crop and livestock production and value of land, buildings and machinery.

A farm census has been taken every five years since 1940. During this period the farm population has declined and food production has increased because of greater use of machinery. This will probably be the most important census ever taken because of the need for agricultural information for post war planning.

POST WAR FARM VALUES

Many service men and many workers in wartime industry are today thinking about buying a farm when the war is over. They are wondering how much they can afford to pay for farm real estate. A committee at the Ohio State University was assigned the job of setting up a system of calculating what a buyer could pay for land and still repay debts connected with purchasing the farm.

Their study was based on farm records over a number of years. They reported for instance that a buyer could pay around $84 an acre for a 160 acre general livestock farm and retire a 34 year mortgage with income from the farm. The committee used 1935 to 1939 prices when figuring likely income from sale of farm products in the future.

CORN LOAN PROGRAM

Farmers faced with selling this year's corn crop at below-average prices can store the corn on the farm and secure a loan under the new corn loan program. Application forms may be secured at the AAA office for the loan program which will be in force until May 15. The interest rate is 3 percent. Corn held under loan must have a moisture content of not more than 21 percent. All corn will likely meet the moisture requirements due to favorable harvest—season weather conditions.

HORSE NUMBERS DECLINE

The number of horses in the United States decreased from 21 million to about 9 million head in the past 30 years and post-war readjustments in agriculture will probably mean a further decline according to experts.

These men expect the boom in post-war manufacture of automobiles, trucks, and tractors will be the signal for a decreased demand for horses and mules. The army sold some surplus horses this year and may sell more. The export demand for horses after the war is not expected to be an encouraging factor.

DAIRY SHORT COURSE

A special short course for Dairy Herd Improvement and Official testers will be held at Ohio State University January 1 to 13. There is an urgent need for testers anyone completing the course is guaranteed a job.

Ogden Reid Writes Appreciation

Dear Mr. Bull:

Thanks for sending me the copy of The Cedarville Herald containing an account of the reception to my father in 1892. I was naturally pleased to be able to read about the party which was given for him and my mother in his home town on one of his trips to see my grandmother and was greatly interested in the description of the day and the speeches. It was gratifying that you as one who works near the old homestead should think there is enough interest in this subject to reprint such an extended account of the very friendly gathering.

The statement of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette that the typographical union fought father in the campaign strikes me as inaccurate. While he did have a disagreement with them which lasted some years, I am quite certain that they were on good terms at that time. Of course, it is true that labor as a whole was upset, particularly about the steel situation in Pennsylvania, and that it did have an influence on the election.

I do not recall ever hearing before that my grandfather was prominent in the Ohio militia and so was particularly interested in that paragraph.

With renewed thanks for sending me this picture of Cedarville fifty-two years ago, I am

Sincerely yours,

OGDEN REID

TEACHER'S MISSION FOR COUNTY TO BE ON DECEMBER 11

Teachers of religion in Sunday and weekday schools, superintendents or directors of children's work and youth and adult group activities, and other officers or leaders of church schools in Greene county are invited to attend a Mission to Christian Teachers to be held in the First U. P. Church, Xenia, on Monday evening at 7:30, December 11th.

The mission held under the Ohio Council of Churches, which is sending a team of four speakers and discussion leaders. The county mission is the outgrowth of the National Missions that were held in 32 centers of population during October and November, the first of which was held in Columbus.

The speakers coming are Rev. Robert Copeland of Germantown, O., Mrs. Charles Harries of Columbus, O., and Rev. Allab W. Caley, Dayton.

The mission will give consideration to making religious teaching more effective through reaching those who are not now receiving such instruction and presenting Christ's message so well that all reached will be won as followers of His way of life and workers in the church for the establishment of the Kingdom of God in the hearts of all men.

The importance of the Mission, Rev. Deen points out, is reflected in the fact that in many communities more than 50 per cent of the people—children and adults—are without any church or church-school affiliation, and that 17 million American boys and girls are receiving no religious training or instruction whatever. He urges the attendance of all who are interested in doing something to improve this situation.

20 Farm Boys In Local Ag Classes

A total of 20 farm boys are enrolled in agriculture classes under the direction of J. Ralph Harner, teacher of vocational agriculture, according to Supt. L. L. Hurley, superintendent of schools. Mr. Harner also teaches 22 boys at Beavercreek.

In spite of the man power shortage vocational agriculture is still offered in high schools in 74 counties in Ohio according to a directory of teachers which has just been completed. Only 205 teachers were on the job this fall when school started compared with 359 in 1941.

Over half of these teachers are teaching in two or more schools each day in an effort to provide instruction to as many farm boys as possible. Three teachers this year are teaching in three different high schools each week.

Miami County has the largest number of teachers. Miami and Delaware counties have the largest number of schools offering vocational agriculture courses with ten in each county.

This year 7,771 Ohio school boys were enrolled in vocational agriculture courses by October 15th, according to Ralph A. Howard, State Supervisor. In addition about 15,460 adult farmers were enrolled in evening classes conducted by Ohio vocational agriculture teachers last year Howard said.

DECEMBER 7 AND PEARL HARBOR

You have heard much the past few days about December 7, 1941, when Japan raided our Pacific possessions and some four or five thousand of our boys lost their lives and a number of our war craft sunk or badly damaged.

It was just a few days ago that Congress gave an extension of time, (at least the third time) in the interest of Kimmel and Short. Both were removed following the Pearl Harbor episode, being made the goat to protect the guilty in Washington. Both has asked for an early trial but the Democratic majority in Congress shows the cowardly hand by postponing any action on the slimy pretense the hearing would retard the war effort. Nothing could be more preposterous.

The Democrats show the yellow rather than have the naked truth brought to the service. Col. Frank Knox is dead but it has been known for months before his death that both he and Secretary Stimson protested to both Roosevelt and Hull that their action would lead Japan into the war. The whole world knew that Japan had been manufacturing war supplies for two years and the scrap Roosevelt permitted the Japs is now the bullets that take the lives of our boys. Kimmel or Short had nothing to do with Japan getting millions of barrels of our oil but FDR did have for he could have denied shipment.

December 7th is another black day for the New Deal for on the day previous all elements in the Senate joined to rebuke the White House for the appointments in the make-over of the State Department. You will recall early in the New Deal how FDR was going to "drive the money changer out of the temple". You will recall that the late Al Smith termed the Roosevelt boasting only "baloney". Such talk was for the uninformed, the Communist and the "forgotten man".

Now, December 7th we find Roosevelt naming Edward R. Stettinus as Secretary of State. He is a prominent member of the Morgan Banking firm of Wall Street, certainly never one of the "forgotten men." For assistants the names of more idle rich were sent to the Senate for confirmation but they were quickly returned to the committee, a slap in the face to FDR even by his Democratic leaders.

It is interesting to read the lineage of the new appointees. Joseph C. Crew, blue-blooded Bostonian and former ambassador to Japan. Wealthy in his own right. Another is William Clayton, New York-Texas multimillionaire who controls the cotton market at times and has held a string to all the cotton markets in the world.

Twelve years ago the most prominent name used to create ill will among the "forgotten men" was that of Rockefeller, of the famous oil millions. This week Roosevelt names Nelson Rockefeller as an assistant to Stettinus, Nelson probably does not know the extent of his wealth. Then to top the list Roosevelt names a poet, one who never has had business experience, never was connected with the diplomatic service and never was a constable or a justice of peace. He was named an assistant secretary of state.

December 7th three years ago is not so far back in the memory of man or what took place at Pearl Harbor. But to go back twelve years and recall the bunk put out by the Hyde Park Squire and how he smeared wealth to create a background for his Communist leaning, stands out in bold contrast today as he names men of wealth for high office, the arch criminals of American society twelve years ago.

December 7, 1944 would be a great day if Kimmel and Short could have the opportunity of testifying and producing orders that were sent from Washington headquarters.

Trying to get a Democratic New Dealer to discuss the Kimmel-Short episode is much like getting an expression as to where the soldier vote went on November 7. The result shows it was the three and one half million civilians on government payroll that gave Roosevelt his three and one half million majority in the popular vote. That was a famous "7th" but it was not made so by the soldier vote.

LET HIM HAVE IT

Paul F. Berdano—United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Gov. Elect Lausche in an address before the Ohio Welfare conference had this to say: "Too many gambling racketeers are taking money from the grown-ups that should go to children." Fine words those. But does the Cleveland Mayor include all forms of gambling? Reports we get from Cleveland is that "bingo" is the target for the Mayor's reformation. We do not hear much about race horse gambling, "numbers racket" or the "football pool" or even where stud poker is played in clubs by the boys that play for high stakes. On the other hand does the new-to-be Governor care to say whether his reform is to hit the big racing time in Ohio and will he ask the legislature to abolish "legalized" "patri-mutual" betting at Ohio race tracks?

A Cincinnati company manufacturing and retailing musical instruments with branches in many cities and though going for several years. With chunks of preferred stock issued he company could not meet interest charges. The war was a life-saver when the company took on cost-plus New Deal war contracts. Now we read a profit and surplus of several million will clean up back charges and even retire most of the outstanding stock and leave the common stockholders a cent dividend this year. But, when a farmer asks for pay for his family to produce crops there is no cost-plus for him—that would be inflation. Last week dairy farmers met in Dayton to get a few cents a pound more to meet higher cost of producing milk. It has not been granted and probably will not be—to hold down the cost of living to the $12 a day war workers. After all the farmer that voted for the fourth term is not entitled to an increase in milk or any other farm product. The innocent always have and always will suffer for the sins of the guilty.

Roosevelt's "eternal peace" plan is cing shot full of holes in different parts of the world from all reports. DR and Churchill are at odds over the political situation in Italy. The few Deal wants to control that nation and Roosevelt has named Mayor La Guardia, New York, to take over that country. This means trouble. Down a Greece the civil war is over adopting a Communist government which Roosevelt and Stalin demand. Here again Churchill pot-shots Roosevelt at very turn. He even goes so far as to inform that country he will use his army to keep Communism out. Spain is now controlled by the Communists. Roosevelt is alarmed and has dispatched his newly made assistant president, Sidney Hillman as an ambassador of some sort to London at your expense.

In South America a half dozen of the smaller nations have come out for Argentina in the battle between the New Deal and that government. Here again England leaves FDR for she is buying her meat, what she does not get "lend-lease from the U. S. Now we read between the lines that lend-lease must cease after the war with England. The shoe is pinching a certain New Deal White House occupant. To the Fourth Term seems destined to be mixed in numerous international scraps that may keep our soldier boys, and your coming eighteen-year-olds, abroad for years acting as a constable or policeman for the New Deal in the Roosevelt plan to control the world as Hitler and Mussolini were wont to do. Keep the British situation in mind. The war is not over. Churchill has this country by the heels. In the end he and Stalin will control the European countries and the world trade. We can hope for little if that takes place.

A Democrat congressman from Indiana lets out a howl about drafting our 18-22-year-old boys and girls. He says he has received more than 500 letters from mothers in his district, all opposing the Roosevelt plan of forcing our youth into his army to be inoculated with Communist ideas. We cannot sympathize with a parent that has voted for a Fourth term and then beg his congressman to vote against a Roosevelt proposal. Sympathy for the boy or girl. They are to be guinea pigs in the New Deal experiment in Communism. The 60 million jobs Roosevelt promised included ten or twelve million of our youth in his army for years to come.

Dictator Petrillo as head of the organized musicians, has defied FDR in his strike against the makers of all sorts of recorded music. Some say he draws a salary of $150,000 a year, which should make FDR jealous. In fact Roosevelt ordered Petrillo to lift his strike order but the Little James Petrillo did not think of his country and that failed. No soldiers were ordered to "take over" as in the Montgomery-Ward case. Feebly FDR when asked what he was going to do said nothing other than he would look up "the law." He evidently did not for the hand forced the broadcasting companies to pay the fee on each record, which will amount to about $400 million in ten years. No boy or girl in a high school orchestra can broadcast over the radio until the little Caesar lifts the ban—something FDR will not and dare not attempt. Sen. Vandenberg has introduced a bill to outlaw the ban on high school orchestras over the air. If little James and Hillman say not—FDR will let Petrillo have his way. Its unimportant that school boys and girls be given a place on the air—the New Dealers own that.

Mrs. Clara Boothe Luce, Rep., from Conn., is with the House Military Affairs Committee visiting the battle fronts and the royalty in Europe. No sooner did Mrs. Luce land in England until some 24-year old snob captain of the British army, gave instruction to Mrs. Luce that she was not to 'talk' to reporters for publication. She did talk anyway but not military. She just repeated what the young-squire captain requested and then the reporters "went to town" with plenty of news Clara was the originator of "G I Jim" the American boy that met his fate abroad in Roosevelt's army and will never be back. Probably the Captain did not want Clara to tell the home folks just how many "G I Jims" fell victim on Invasion Day. She might not get things straight about our boys not having enough shells and how the boys are dying for want of equipment. It is more likely the request through the English Captain came from the White House in Washington.

Cong. Clarence J. Brown in his column on page one refers to the Freezing of Social Security rates. We are not so sure but that this would not be the proper things to do. Organized labor voted for it in a way and now thousands of labor union members are opposing the increased rate from one percent per pay check to two percent per check deduction. For instance out of a $90 a week worker's pay check Uncle Sam must deduct two percent or $18 dollars. The employer also must pay in two percent to match the "deduct" taken from the laborer. This is put into the Social Security fund just long enough to do some bookkeeping then FDR orders a transfer and the government borrows the money to send not for more benefits to the laborer who had the $18 deducted but for the general revenue fund. When the bonds come due the government is going to be forced to levy special taxes as well as principle of the bonds. Already the experts are beginning to figure out a way the nation can pay the interest in the bonds you hold. A new refinancing program is in the making now and the Sixth War bond issue has not been sold.

Col Elliott Roosevelt has made the third trip to the marriage altar, the last somewhere out west in the great mountain district where the eye meets the grandeur of nature. The third wife for the Col. proves he is no tender foot at the marrying game. The new wife is trying a second hitch under the "I do" vows. The Col. is 34 has traveled all over the globe taking pictures to further "the war effort". He is supposed to be in the service but we hear of him most "wherever dad is". With two other members of the White House family making a second try at marrying after divorce proceedings indicates a blue print may be the next necessity in the Roosevelt family so that the young folks when they "grow up" will know what their relationship will be one to the other.

BROWN FAVORS OPENING LITTELL CHARGES NOW

Congressman Clarence J. Brown is out with a statement as favoring an immediate investigation of the trouble between Attorney General Biddle and Norman Littell, assistant attorney general. Littell refused to risk his reputation by approving what he says was wrong in that a fee of another attorney, "Tommy the Cork", Cocoran, inside New Deal braintruster and personal friend of FDR, Roosevelt ordered Littell dismissed from the department at once for refusing to follow Biddle's orders.

The whole situation has created a big sensation and smells of rotteness. Littell is a former Xenian.

Deferred Men 25 To 30 Now Face Draft

State selective service headquarters issued a statement Tuesday that deferred men between the ages of 25 and 30 would be reclassified in each county to fill quotas, especially in industrial areas where shortages are imminent.

Col. Goble says that all men physically fit between the ages of 18 and 37 were liable for military service. Manpower losses on all European fronts have been far greater than the average citizen realizes and the new classification means more men for combat service even up to 37 years of age.

GI Joe in his Pacific foxhole—maybe he is your brother, husband, sweetheart or friend—is listening in on you today.

He knows you have a date with a Victory Volunteer, a neighbor with a War Bond order in his or her hand. The two of you may talk it over at your work bench, in your office or in your home. Will GI Joe pick up phrases like "I can't afford it," "We'll lick Japan with one hand tied behind our back?"

GI Joe counts on you to have enough sense and knowledge of the facts about the Pacific war to back him up in his foxhole. The extra $100 War Bond you buy today is a War Bond with the most power.
